I've always had an affinity for art and creativity which led me to studying 3d modelling and animation. After university i travelled around China studying and teaching english before returning to the UK and self learning basic coding, combined with design i worked in graphic design and developing, learning other skills and roles along the way such as in marketing and acting as a brand ambassador.

I have arrived in Canada seeking work which can utilise my skills and allow me to develop my skills and pick up new ones
